

Parametric equations

Parametric equations are a way of expressing the variables we are interested in (often x and y) in terms of another variable, called the parameter.

For example,

$$x = \cos u$$

$$y = \sin u$$

is a parametric set of equations describing a unit circle centred at the origin.