

Critical point

A critical point on a curve is a point where the tangent to the curve is vertical. For instance, the unit circle has critical points at $(1,0)$ and $(-1,0)$.

The term is sometimes used as another name for a stationary point or more generally to refer to any interesting point on a curve.