

An irrational inequality

Teacher notes

Why use this resource?

This resource is not necessarily intended for whole class use but might be used as an extension activity for highly engaged students individually or as a group. It asks students to think about what is needed to convince someone else that this given mathematical statement is true.

Key questions

These are contained in the resource.