Cosine rule

The cosine rule states that if a, b and c are the side lengths of a triangle, and A is the angle opposite side a, then

$$a^2 = b^2 + c^2 - 2bc\cos A.$$

This is a generalisation of Pythagoras' Theorem, as if $A=90^{\circ}$, then $\cos A=0$.